

Massey experts to consult at AON Maadi Cup

Massey academics will be on-site at the AON Maadi Cup on 30 March, sharing their expertise on topics from nutrition to achieving peak performance.

The University's commitment to sport has enabled Massey University Monday, with the University sponsoring the day. As well as providing advice for competitors, Massey is providing rowing performance and strength testing equipment, and a nutritionally sound morning tea.

Because Massey knows how difficult it can be to combine sport with study, Massey has developed an Academy of Sport to support and nurture New Zealand's top talent. This year, ten of the 2009 Prime Minister's Athlete Scholarship rowing recipients are studying at Massey, and we have supported many rowing Olympians with customised study plans to enable them to compete internationally.

Massey, as the sponsor of the Girls Under 17 Eight and the Boys Under 17 Coxed Four races, wish the crews the best of luck in your quest for excellence.

Join us in the marquee behind the finishing tower on Monday to access our experts. The Student Liaison Team, able to assist with queries on courses and enrolments, will be in the Water Sport Complex for the rest of the week.
